Alice
Longworth

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 24.—No one is much surprised that the drive to make a show against the New Deal before and at the convention has tapered off. Many of the Democrats who dislike the direction in which their party has been herded since the New Deal took it over are out of active politics and consequently have no organization to make their objections effective in terms of delegates.

The machine that gets out the primary vote and selects the delegates is completely controlled by the administration and its political followers and job holders, with abundant relief billions to oil out any cracks.

But the opposition is there just the same. Two out of the three former Democratic presidential candidates, Mr. Davis and Governor Smith, make no secret of their opinions, and they have plenty of company.

Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia and Senator Tydings of Maryland, though "regular," are reproachful. If that reproachfulness is frank, determined and explicit at the convention, Democratic harmony may not be a synonym for brotherly love at Philadelphia.

Motorists, especially truck drivers, should drive a bit slower during sloppy conditions of city streets, to protect clothes of passersby. Along South Mill street, Monday afternoon, a truck was being operated at a high rate of speed. Near a crossing, the truck hit a small hole filled with water and mud. Two young men on the sidewalk were completely splashed by the water.

Garfield avenue residents were surprised to see a ring-neck pheasant strutting along the street early yesterday afternoon, as if he belonged there. Mrs. Donald F. Copson, of 207 East Garfield avenue reports. It attracted considerable attention.

Dear Pa. News:

A letter that I received from a woman in Florida says, that she reads and likes your Pa. News column and asks me why I do not write something about that great bird the American Robin. In the early days the English Colonists named the Robins, "Babes in the Woods." There is no other bird as democratic as the robin, and he cannot be excelled in his vocal expressions. The song of the robin at early morn has many shades of meaning in a single note. The robin song can be as soft as a dove, and again notes harsh and raging, and when twilight comes the robin's call is subdued to a tender sound, emotions of love, and contentment. The robin is a great insect destroyer and last summer a young robin kept in captivity ate 70 earth worms daily and the length of these worms laid end to end was about 16 feet, to sum it all up that robin would eat about 40 percent over its own weight from sun-up to sunset.

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Mar. 24.—Four dead, a score injured, other scores homeless, one town practically wiped off the southwest Missouri map—that was the toll today of a March Ozark's tornado that swirled near here late yesterday.

The dead are: Mrs. Elizabeth Elmore, 69, and Bert Sell, 23, both killed when the twister hit Niangua, Mo.; Reba Keesling, 19, of Rader, Mo.; and Henry Elmore, 42, of Oakland, Mo. The girl and Elmore died last night in hospitals.

Only three buildings are standing today in Rader, and the damages to this little community and Niangua will total $50,000 it was said.

There were many freak escapes as houses were demolished by the leveling wind. A young school teacher, Miss Pauline Rader, 21, led her 16 pupils to safety just before the tornado splintered their little school house.

CINCINNATI, O., Mar. 24.—While the Ohio delegation in congress pressed for action on a million dollar federal flood relief request, the crest of the destructive Ohio river flood today surged on toward the "Queen City."

As the river stage mounted to 58.6 feet this morning, the Cincinnati area recorded its first flood death. Paul Kearney, 18, was drowned when a small boat overturned. Rescuers saved his companion.

Already exceeding the flood stage here by more than 6 1/2 feet, the river slowly rose toward an anticipated crest of 60 feet, expected to be attained during the day.

Miles Under Water

Miles of riverfront property east of Cincinnati and across the river in Kentucky is under water. Red Cross officials estimated more than 1,000 families in this area have fled their homes before the onrushing flood. Relief agencies have made adequate preparations to care for all.

Only Front Street in Cincinnati was submerged, but flood-choked sewers poured streams into many downtown buildings near the wharf. Boats were the popular conveyance in Newport, Ky., across the river. With many river front blocks below water there, regular boat patrols were established while other craft carried provisions to flood-isolated families.

Portsmouth, 100 miles upstream, reported the crisis there had passed and the water was expected to begin receding soon.

The high concrete flood wall gave Portsmouth complete protection from the flood.

Relatives Of Local Family In Both Of Johnstown Floods

Mrs. Henry G. Elise, of Norwood, avenue, has received assurances from her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Snook, of Johnstown, Pa., that they are safe but that their home and business have been entirely ruined by the flood.

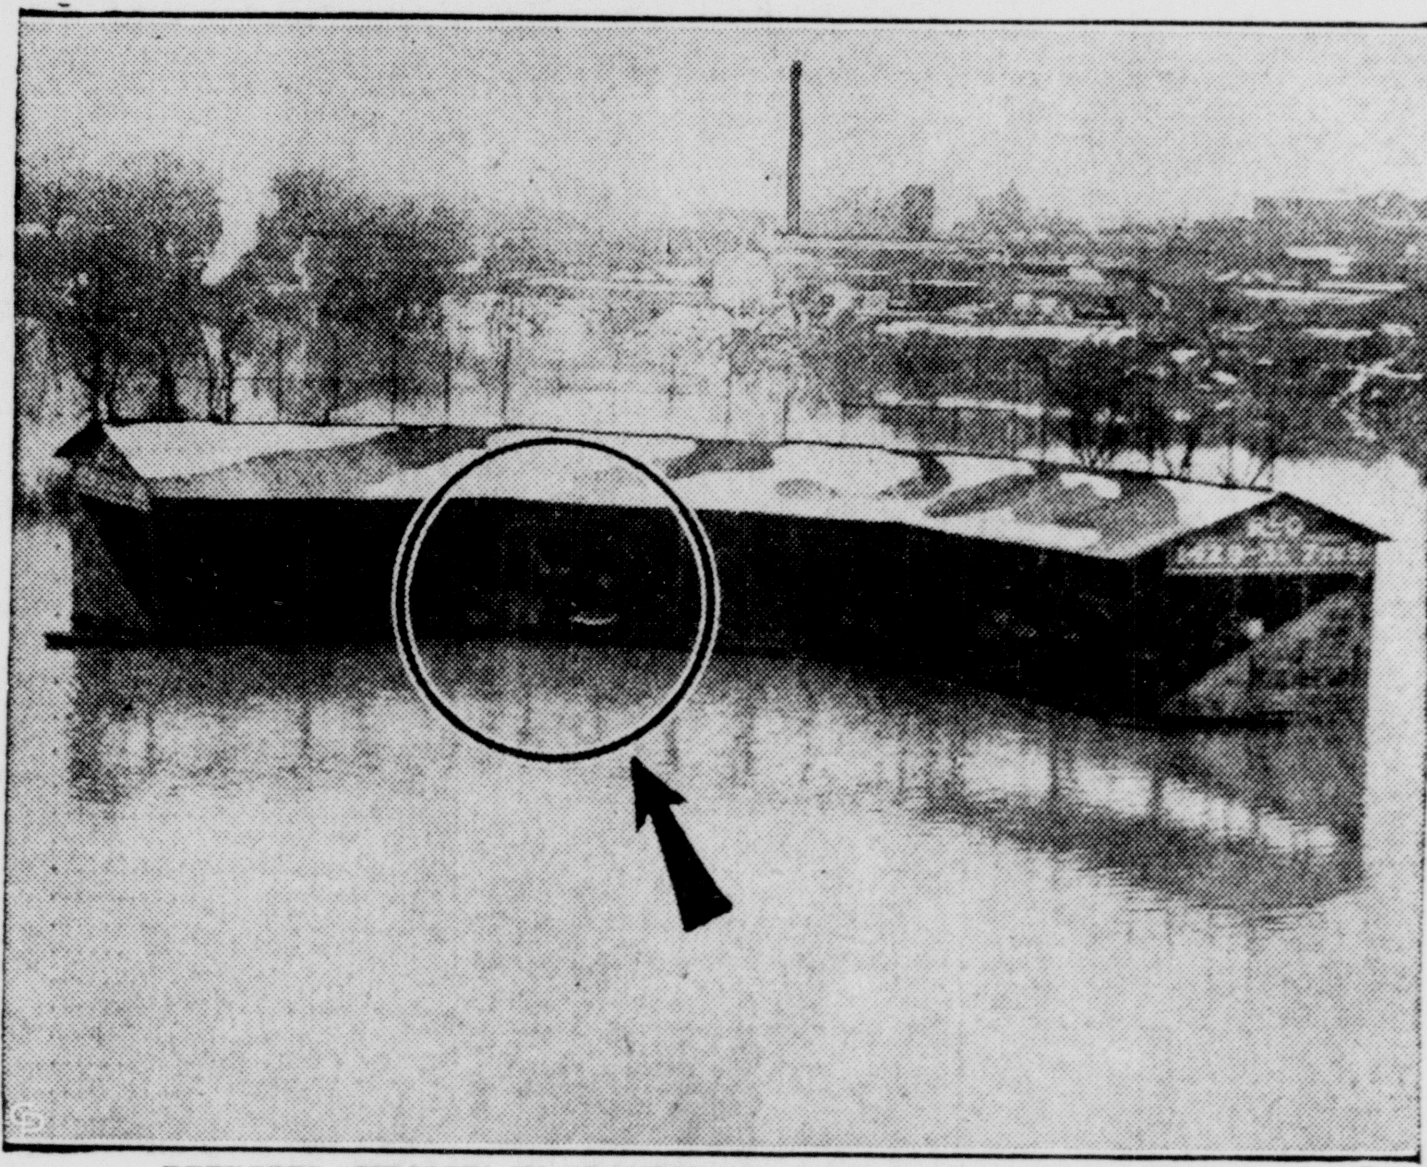

This is the second time the couple have gone through a devastating flood, the first time being in 1889. They were a bride and groom at the time and had just set up housekeeping when the flood wiped them out.

This time Mr. Snook's hardware store was in the middle of the flood district. All his stock is either washed away or ruined by the water and their home nearby was hit hard also. All their household furnishings at least on the first floor were ruined by water. The building in which the hardware store is located is the building in which the telephone exchange is located. Mr. Snook owns the building. Fortunately Mr. and Mrs. Snook were at the home of a daughter who lives on higher ground.

In the flood of 1889 Mrs. Elise's parents were in the flood. Mrs. Elise, then a girl, was visiting in Pittsburgh at the time. Her parents and several members of the family went upstairs and from the bathroom of their home managed to crawl through the window and from there to the third floor and out the roof. While on the roof a locomotive floated by and hit the foundation of the building jarring the roof from the home and with eight people on it the roof floated down the flood waters.

The roof landed against another dwelling and they were rescued by men in boats. The home was lost but the family suffered no fatalities. Mrs. Elise has been worried about the condition of her relatives during this flood but is more or less reassured.

Lewis Case Now
In Jury's HandsArguments Completed And Charge Of Court Delivered This Forenoon

Pleas of attorney and a charge by the court occupied the entire forenoon in the case of Richard R. Lewis, on trial before Judge James A. Chambers for alleged irregularities in connection with the election in the first precinct of the Fifth Ward.

Attorney Edwin K. Logan made the plea in behalf of the defendant and George W. Muse for the commonwealth. Both went over the evidence in detail, Muse arguing for conviction and Logan for acquittal.

At the close of the arguments the court took a short recess, after which Judge James A. Chambers took up his charge to the jury. He reviewed the evidence on both sides and explained the law applicable to the case. The case has been on trial since last Thursday, since which time a large number of witnesses have testified, and the jury has spent considerable time in examining the ballots on which it is alleged that changes have been made.

The case is the first one of the kind ever tried in the local courts and the second one on which an indictment was found upon the recommendation of a grand jury. The outcome is now being awaited with interest.

Theatres To Stage
Big Flood Benefit
On Friday Night

On Friday, March 27, the six motion picture theatres of this city—with a combined seating capacity of 3,500—will sponsor midnight shows as a benefit for the flood victims looking for help from the American Red Cross, it is announced.

That announcement came today as the theatre managers voluntarily turned over their showhouses and as a civic group headed by Dr. G. S. Bennett organized plans for a wide distribution of 50 cent tickets.

Entire proceeds for Red Cross. The point was stressed that 50 cents will be the price of a seat—and the entire 50 cents will go to the Red Cross.

Motion picture producers are providing the films without cost, it was said. Theatre employees will give their services free.

Civic clubs and fraternal organizations of the district within the next few days will be fully informed of the benefit show and will be asked to lend their cooperation. The midnight show of a mass nature has never before been attempted here, but indications are that the first will (Continued On Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24.—While the valleys of the great Mississippi watershed prepared for flood torrents, the federal government today spurred recovery efforts to rehabilitate the flood-desolated industrial east.

While Uncle Sam and the Red Cross provided man-power, food, clothing and medicine to stricken communities, federal authorities studied thousands of appeals for financial aid to revive paralyzed industries. Congress proved a bee-hive of activity in plotting legislation to help afflicted communities and industries.

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 24.—Two navy destroyers were speeding toward the eastern extremity of the Bahamas group today. Aboard one, the Monaghan, was President Roosevelt, intent on two weeks of deep-sea fishing off the Florida coast.

Some time late today or early tomorrow the Monaghan and her sister destroyer, the Dale, will reach an ocean rendezvous with the new White House yacht, Potomac, which will be the base ship of the President's spring cruise this year.

The President boarded the destroyer late yesterday afternoon at Port Everglades.

Talks with Hagood

A highlight of the President's trip South was his conference aboard train with Major General Johnson Hagood, recently relieved of command of the eighth corps area because of reported criticism of the WPA program before a congressional committee.

Hagood left the presidential special at West Palm Beach to "take a three months leave of absence," during the course of which "his future assignment to duty will be determined," according to a terse official statement. Mr. Roosevelt declined to amplify this cryptic summation of what transpired during the hour and a half Hagood presented his side of the case. The general, however, did not appear in the best of spirits when he left the train to "go to Chicago on private business."

There's a stirring down there as the sun starts to shine, the jonquills are moving in bed, and soon when the snow goes you'll find if you look they have started to raise up their head. They're beginning to feel what we all want to feel the urge of the spring and the sun, and soon they'll be back to inspire and please, the weather is up, fifty one.

ANOTHER NEW DEAL COINCIDENCE

LIFE is full of interesting coincidences. In October, 1934, a month before the congressional election, deluge of AAA checks descended upon the farmers of the Middle West. Washington officials formally regretted that this concentrated outpouring of governmental benefits had the appearance of being timed for the occasion, but explained that the checks were not ready before.

And now Chester Davis, replying to curious congressmen, says that the bestowal of the $440,000,000 upon farmers who "co-operate" with the soil conservation program two months before the national election will start not earlier than next September. Payments will be made in lump sums, rewarding the farmers for what they have done and what they have promised to do. However, the full number of payments will not be completed for weeks and months. The amounts will vary greatly and will be decided by Secretary Wallace.

So another coincidence will occur in the distribution of largesse to the farmers. But that is the way with coincidences. Sometimes they look as if they had been deliberately planned. But the cynical should remember that the fall is always the time for reaping the harvest.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

From the United States Supreme Court has come the commendable hint that vacations may be delayed if there remain any important New Deal cases to come before the tribunal for adjudication.

The attitude is one which might well be widely emulated by jurists facing the dismal and potentially expensive prospect of court congestion. The late Chief Justice Taft performed yeoman service in bringing Supreme Court litigation up to date, and Chief Justice Hughes likewise has spared no efforts in the same direction. As a result, the nation's highest tribunal has become a model of judicial efficiency.

The court's present willingness to forego vacations in so far as that may be deemed desirable is a significant and noteworthy manifestation of the kind of spirit that should prevail throughout the length and breadth of public life.

RESTORATION

Out of the devastation caused by swirling waters in all parts of the East there emerges a picture of organized rescue and relief activity that reflects great credit upon a number of American agencies. The Red Cross, the WPA, the Army, the Coast Guard and numerous other groups are bending every effort toward human control of a situation which otherwise would be a potent source of death, injury, suffering and ruin.

The prolonged cold spell of the past winter, which froze the ground to unprecedented depths, is assigned as the chief cause of present flood conditions. Water could not be absorbed by the soil, and consequently, poured down river channels in unusual volume and with exceptional fury.

It is to be hoped that the relief activities now under way will check the toll, both in terms of human life and property, and that the receding waters will make it possible to have early restoration of normal existence in the communities most severely afflicted.

WATER AND DUST

Nature seems cruel in such cases as the eastern floods, blindly sweeping away homes and factories and destroying lives. Yet nature has its own advantage. And such a flood is largely man-made. Man has bared the land so that more water runs off at once, and man has cluttered up the valleys, narrowing them with his railroad fillings and bridge-heads and cluttering them with his industrial refuse, so that swollen streams cannot get through as they used to.

Nature seems cruel also in those southwestern dust bowl storms, sweeping away the soil and stifling animal and plant life. Yet there, too, nature is obeying her own laws which, in other situations, operate beneficently. And it is man there who has been the disturbing factor. Man has removed the binding grass and sod permitting erosion by water and wind, until he destroys the benefits that nature provided.

Nature is neither cruel nor kind, but neutral. She will help or hinder, according to the capacity of living creatures to use her powers wisely.

Civilization is a continuous, manifold effort on the part of conscious man to co-operate with unconscious nature. On the whole, he does a rather wonderful job. But often he is incredibly stupid and shortsighted. It's all the same to nature, but he pays the penalty.

If lifting the face would raise the spirit, then the process would be worth the effort.

An intelligent cynic is one who can tell the exact spot where life hurts him most.

Peoples are funny. They feel cheated when they can't afford the things that would shorten their lives.

The nation is saved. Hardship makes a nation strong, and paying the national debt will provide the hardship.

It is better as it is. Human beings might be less kind to animals if they knew what the animals thought of them.

Schmeling says he doesn't care whether his match with Joe Louis is held in New York or Philadelphia. The place of combat, we feel certain, will not in any way affect the outcome.

A SOLEMN, DELIBERATE PELICAN has adopted for his special hunting ground a section of Biscayne Bay including the shore front owned by this writer.

That pelican's easy life might make an overworked American wish he had been born a bird.

That pelican, wide and short, built like a tugboat, has a squat body covered with dull yellowish gray feathers, a long gray neck, pure white head, a powerful dark yellow beak about one foot long, below which hangs the large pouch, convenient to hold surplus fish when more are caught than can be conveniently swallowed at the time.

YOU STUDY true happiness and freedom, watching that bird. All Biscayne Bay, the sky above, the waters and fish beneath, belong to him. Occasionally he rises laboriously, with much disturbance of the water, and flaps slowly along near the surface, uttering of the constant feeble "peep peep," much too small for his size and his beak. Next he flops into the water, disappears, and comes up, almost invariably, swallowing a fish. He "registers" no triumph or exultation.

Fish are there, and he was made to swallow them. He pauses, for a rapid assimilation. Back and forth, flopping and diving, devouring fish in numbers incredible, he sees them swimming below him in the shallow, clear water, selects the right size and kind, disdaining the too small, ignoring the too big.

With sunset and twilight, your pelican, congratulating himself on a good day's work, rises slowly, much higher this time, and slaps away out of sight, to the secret place where he sleeps. The rising sun finds him back on his happy hunting ground.

NEVER SAY that no other living creature lives, as happy, as free from care, worry or work.

There is another bird, another "biped" called the "practical politician," who leads as happy and carefree a life as that of any pelican. Taxpayers are his "fish," big cities with their business and industry are his Biscayne Bay.

Two happy birds with good appetites, pelican and politician. Why were they created?

YOU TRAVEL back into the night of time and superstition, reading of police raiding "the bolita racket" in Miami's Negro quarter. With that racket, a game of numbers, police take twenty thousand dollars a week from Miami's colored population, keeping thousands poor. Such racketeering occurs everywhere. Racketeers divide generously with those that might interfere with them.

With sales of "bolita" and Cuban lottery tickets, police seize many "dream books" and most interesting quantities of "lucky incense."

Dream books tell the colored student what his dream means, and how to bet. "Lucky incense," its perfume smoke curling upward, is supposed to inspire successful gambling. All that goes back far into the past and into the jungle.

DREAMS IMPRESSED human beings before speech was perfected. Wise men tell you that man's first idea of immortality came from dreams of the early savage. He saw his dead father or brother, a creature, hunting, so, though he, there must (Continued On Page Six)

MAKING A LIVING

IT'S A MAN'S JOB to make a living for himself, for his family, his wife and his children.

Making a living usually means having a job earning money to pay for meat, bread, milk, rent, insurance and a little fun. . . . But sometimes a man does this, earns plenty of money for all the material needs of himself and those dependent upon him, and finds that though he has made a Living for them, in one sense, neither he nor they are happy.

He has not truly made a LIVING for them.

A living is something more than food for the mouth, a bed for the tired body, a roof over the head, protection from discomfort, poverty and hunger.

A living is something that's not so easy to set down on paper, in words. . . . A living is an attitude, a point of view, a way of healthy happiness. . . . A man may make a material living for his family and still find that there is more death than life in their existence.

A living is a vital thing, a splendid vibration, a joy in being alive. You can help some other human being, slightly or greatly, help him to live deeply, widely, but after all every man must Make His Own Living.

If he is bored, he cannot make a good living.

If his daily bread is self-pity, he cannot make a living for himself or anyone else.

If he feeds on bitterness, distrust, envy and arrogance, nowhere in the world is a living for him.

He starves in a world of plenty. . . . A man says to himself, "It is not my fault. All my strength, all my energy, must be used in stark effort to make enough money, in making that kind of living. I have no more time." . . . It's the saddest confession any man or woman can make. . . . a confession of failure.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:16. Sun rises tomorrow 5:56.

An account of the kidnapping of a wooden Indian in Philadelphia recalls New Castle's tribe of Wooden Indians. For many years a big chief was located in front of Allen's cigar store on Washington street, and another in front of James Waldron's cigar store on the Diamond. Both stores have passed out of existence, also the wooden Indians and nobody ever seems to know where the big chiefs were buried.

Mussolini and Sessie are said to be ready for peace proposals, but the trouble is that both want to keep their jobs.

A woman doctor and a male physician were engaged in a romance. "Do you know," said he, "I have a heart affection for you."

"Indeed," said she, "and I have had it lung?"

"Oh, yes, and I fear I will live troubled life without you."

"Then you had better asthma quick."

Spring cleaning: Relocating the furniture in unexpected places to bark the shins of the male.

An Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotchman were out of work. They stopped with a farmer and asked for a job. The farmer said he would give a job to the man who told the biggest lie. The Englishman said he swam to the North Pole. The Scotchman said he swam to the South Pole. "Well, Pat, what's your lie?" asked the farmer. "Begorra, sir," said Pat, "I believe these lads." He got the job.

The principal difference between classical dancing and chorus-girl dancing, seems to be that the former looks nude instead of naked.

A scientist says that the Ice Age may be returning. Good, we've always wanted to see a live mammoth—or were they mastodons.

Maybe you have noticed that it's the people who come early to avoid the crowd, that makes the crowd. And again, the folks who rush down street early in the evening to get a good parking place on Washington street, usually find that a lot of other people have had the same inspiration.

Remember when the young bloods all wore their hair "pompadour" and you were thought old fashioned if you didn't? The pompadour stood up like the bristles on a clothes brush, and tapered back from the front, like a stream line auto. That was about the only hair dressing craze of which the men have been guilty. They're usually pretty sensible.

Civilized and heathen are alike in one respect. They all lose faith in their gods in time of ill fortune.

In spite of all its faults, March could be worse. Remember the arrival of March is the only way we have of getting rid of February.

A lonely heart is like a hollow tooth. They both stop aching when the cavity is filled.

A north hill young man who was out of a job took the advice of a friend and asked the daughter of a well-to-do family to marry him. Her reply was: "I will marry you if you give up drinking and smoking."

Replied the man, "It's O. K. with me, if you don't marry me I will have to give up eating."

A witness at court was asked if he had ever appeared as a witness before. "Yes, your honor," was the reply. "In what suit?" asked the court, to which the witness replied, "My blue serge."

A South Side woman bought her little son Willie a new pair of pants the other day, but they didn't seem to fit so well.

"These pants are too tight, mother," the little fellow complained. "They're tighter than my skin."

"Well," said the mother, "I guess they are a little small for you. But they're certainly not tighter than your skin."

they are a little small for you. But they're certainly not tighter than your skin. Nothing could be that tight."

"Well, they must be," the boy returned. "I can sit down in my skin but I can't sit down in these pants."

Old scheme: "I'll give you a nickel if you'll be good." New scheme: Using taxpayer's money to keep kids in school so they won't be bad.

A man must have somebody to think him a great guy. If the world doesn't, he can marry; if his wife doesn't, he can get a dog.

We heard of a thrifty woman on the south side who made her husband a necktie out of an old dress, but at that, she had nothing on a north hill woman who made a dress out of one of her husband's neckties.

Vanity saves us. A man will spend years insulting people and then think they hate him because of envy.

If familiarity breeds contempt, maybe that is the reason we despise taxes.

Fable: Once a drunk man cut a relative, and all the other relatives said, "Let him go to jail."

We never knew until recently what the weather man meant by the mean temperature, but we don't have to worry over that problem any longer. If the weather could be any meaner than it has been during the past winter, we'd have to get a new name for it.

Poking one's nose into another man's business usually means putting one's foot into it as well.

A good many people are wishing that the weather man would start broadcasting on something else than a cold wave length.

The World At A Glance

Business May Seek NRA
Competition Is Ruinous
Due Process ClauseBy LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

THERE IS A BELIEF in some circles that industry itself may suggest the return of a modified NRA within less than a year—perhaps after election.

Bills before Congress to define new "unfair trade practices" are seen merely as the beginning of new legislation.

Unrestricted competition is playing havoc with the earnings of some corporations. Capitalism could destroy itself with a further spread of this dog-eat-dog policy.

The time situation, with layoffs and wage slashes, and consequent strikes is merely one of the advertised instances. The steel trade, in the midst of good business, is having trouble making earnings "stick."

Labor, of course, desires a return of the NRA.

The American Federation of Labor asserts that a continuation of the NRA would have increased workers' buying power, and therefore would have increased production.

"It is inevitable," says the A. F. of L. in its monthly survey, "but none the less tragic fact that industry, as it recovers, is failing to solve the problem of unemployment, because it has turned its back on a basic New Deal principle."

The survey remarks further: "Today, with the technical progress made since 1929 we could create a national standard of living at least 6 per cent above the highest ever reached in 1929. Yet we deny work to over 12,000,000, maintaining nearly 5,000,000 of them in poverty at government expense and do nothing for the rest."

A FLAW There is a flaw, of course, in the reasoning of manufacturer and worker alike when higher prices is believed a solution.

The solution—as the majority of economists seem to see it—is a lowering of costs so that sale prices can be considerably and comprehensively lower.

A general sharing in the resultant earnings, then, would bring about the increased purchasing power (and at the same time relieve the jobless) and start the wheels a-going. The U. S. population of 127 millions needs for replenishment alone all that America can produce. But maldistribution of income and increments and inflated prices invoke a general poverty over what should be a land overflowing with prosperity.

BALKERS The A. F. of L. says the judiciary has done much to balk the great industrial machine.

Says the A. F. of L. survey: "We have in America the greatest producing mechanism in the world. Why have we failed to put it to work? Chiefly because we were not permitted by the judiciary to work out our attempt, to discover how this could be done."

Incidentally, labor is furious over New York courts declaring invalid first the minimum wage law for women and then the state social security law, under the due process clause of the U. S. constitution.

The "due process clause" was not written into the constitution by the founding fathers, as many persons believe, but by an Ohio corporation lawyer who became a congressman, when the fourteenth amendment was put through following the Civil war. There were objections to it then as controverting the original concept of the constitution—even as there are criticisms now when it is used to kill one social measure after another.

Some of the measures killed by courts because of it 20 years or so ago have later been declared constitutional when repassed.

DUE PROCESS CLAUSE

Labor believes that it takes a great deal of reasoning on the part of lawyers and judges to make the "due process" clause cover all the minimum wage and social security laws that are declared unconstitutional. For the clause merely says:

"No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Labor asks whether it hasn't any "privileges or immunities" as citizens.

Strange to say, the due process clause, put through by Republican centralizationists, now is invoked chiefly by Republican states' rights.

SECURITY

Labor also intends to try to get the federal government to take the burden on social security, instead of placing it on 48 states.

The Social Security measure, as passed last year, evidently is unworkable. Antagonistic interests prevent state legislatures from passing the necessary compliance measures—thus merely a minority of states are ready to receive the benefits.

Furthermore, labor considers the benefits as too small.

Business, on the other hand, considers the cost as too great. Undoubtedly if security is to be made workable, the federal government will have to assume the burden—and that means forcing business along with it.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Senate Probers Make Many Foes

Unpopularities Of Investigators Of Past Are Being Recalled Now

SENATOR BLACK GAINS ILLWILL

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S Street.

By CHARLES P. STEVART Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24—Investigators never are popular with the folk they are engaged in investigating. Senator Hugo L. Black, of Alabama, seems now to be even more unpopular than the average, but probably that is because he is of the present. His predecessors' respective unpopularities are more or less forgotten.

In post-war years the first of the really great investigators was the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana.

Walsh's masterpiece was the Teapot Dome inquiry. Teapot Dome, as a matter of fact, was only one detail of the affair, but the "Teapot Dome probe" was the name it generally was known by.

Walsh was a fearfully harsh investigator, but legally, extremely punctilious. He had a high respect for the rules of evidence, even to the point of waiving occasional advantages in his own favor, when he thought it would be technically improper for him to take them. Nevertheless he landed ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Hall in the penitentiary, Harry F. Sinclair in jail and made life miserable for various other notabilities.

WHEELER, TOO

About the same time that Teapot Dome was raging Senator Burton K. Wheeler, also of Montana, was making himself so unpleasant by poking into the justice department's record under Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty that some of the individuals he was hounding took the trouble to get him indicted in his home state, apparently to occupy his attention with his own troubles.

It developed that the testimony against Wheeler was perjured which only goes to prove, however, that his activities as an investigator were resented.

The late Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, of Arkansas was another celebrated investigator of comparatively recent date. The Arkansan like Senator Black, concentrated on lobbying. He was one of the sharpest tongues of statesmen, but he once told me that he doubted that lobbying ever could be stopped. He said that it is too subtle, too difficult to define also.

CAUSTIC REED

Former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri was a noted investigator.

His major performance was the management of the inquiry which prevented William S. Vare from taking the seat, to which, ostensibly, he had been elected, in the United States senate, from Pennsylvania.

Generally speaking a good congressional investigator should be a born prosecutor like Senators Walsh, Wheeler, Caraway, Reed and Black. But not Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota. Nye has the temperament of a newspaperman—concerned in revealing facts, not necessarily in convicting anyone of anything.

Nye conducted an inquiry much like Reed's. It related to reported abuses at primary elections. The conditions it uncovered probably decided senatorial results in two or three states, but Nye did not accomplish it by "tough stuff." He is a mild man, who simply and persistently asks embarrassing questions. He is a great investigator. Now he is busy with the munitions investigation. Not that he will prevent future wars, but he is advertising them unfavorably.

PECORA GOT HEADLINES

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, of Florida has not had his fair share of publicity out of the senate banking and currency committee's Wall Street inquiry.

The committee's legal adviser and cross examiner, Ferdinand Pecora, got all the headlines. Indeed, it was known as the "Pecora investigation." With all due respect to Pecora, Fletcher hired him and backed him up (against considerable opposition).

If credit for a first-class quiz was due to anyone, the credit for that one is due to Senator Fletcher.

Senator Black is of the prosecutor type. The Alabamian's aim is "to make a case"—to secure a conviction anyway.

On Court House Hill

In a report of the beneficiaries under the will of the late Samuel Law of Taylor township, the name, Mary Ann Good, should have read, Nancy Alice Good, it is stated to The News.

Thomas Edmunds, clerk of the registration bureau, has received a request from Harrisburg for the number of voters registered on the number of voters registered on the tickets. The number of males and females is wanted separately. He is now preparing the list, which, when completed, will give a pretty good idea of the complexion of the registration in the city.

Motion for a new trial has been made in the case of Gustav Barth against Martha Roth, in which the plaintiff was awarded a verdict for $350, as the result of an automobile accident on highway route 18.

Notes of testimony in the case of Anna Olacz against Sam Ross, in which a motion for a new trial has been made, were filed yesterday at the prothonotary's office. Miss Olacz was awarded $160 and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Olacz, $250, as the result of injuries sustained by Miss Olacz in an automobile accident on East Washington street. Miss Olacz had been invited to ride in the car of Frank Smith, as she was coming from Cascade park. Ross, it was claimed, was making a left hand turn into Bedford street, when the accident occurred.

Present retail beverage licenses in the county will expire on June 1, and those desiring to renew them must get their applications into the county treasurer's office by April 1, according to County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland. There were about 89 retail licenses granted last year, and it is presumed that the most of them, if not all, will want to continue in business.

The law regarding the granting of license is found in section 16 of the pamphlet laws of Pennsylvania. It reads: "All applications for renewal of licenses must be filed at least sixty days before the expiration of the same, and not thereafter. Unless within one month of the date of filing of such application for renewal, the applicant shall have been notified by the treasurer of objections to the granting thereof, filed by persons authorized to do so, upon the payment of the license fee and the filing of a bond as in the case of an original application for license, the treasurer shall issue such renewal of license. Objections to the granting of the renewal of the license shall be limited to those filed by persons authorized to file petitions for the revocation or suspension of licenses as provided in section 13 hereof."

Only retail licenses are now issued by the county treasurer. Wholesalers or distributors, must get their licenses through the State Liquor Control board. The county treasurer has no option in the matter. If there are no objections filed against an applicant, and his bond is regular, the law says the license must be issued.

There were fifty-six instruments of all kinds entered for record at the office of Register and Recorder, William R. Hanna during the past week. Of this number 18 were mortgages and 29 were deeds. The deeds did not represent much additional activity in the real estate market, as quite a number of them were for properties recently sold by the sheriff. However, there has been a noticeable pickup in the sales of property at private sale.

Some pieces of shooting stars (meteors) do not fall on the earth and specimens are kept in various museums. But usually when a meteor goes flying through the atmosphere the friction between the two is sufficient to melt it, and nothing but dust reaches the earth.

A canvass of the town was started by members of the Young People's Christian Union in charge of Dolly Bair. All kinds of clothing, canned food and other articles were among the donations for the unfortunate flood victims. Saturday morning almost a truck load of goods was immediately sent to the flood district.

NICHOLAS M. SCHENCK, president of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, buys a house in Miami, not because he has lost interest in California, or plans any transfer of moving picture business. He works in New York, wants his small children to spend the winter in a warm climate and Miami is nearer to New York than Hollywood.

The house at 5369 Collins Avenue, Miami Beach, cash $150,000, a small investment for Mr. Schenck, now. He can remember when it would have been a big investment, when he and his brother, Joseph, had a small drug store across the Hudson River from Grant's Tomb in New York, and later, an amusement park.

In this country if you work, understand your business and take care of it, it will take care of you.

DO NOT GIVE "living toys" to your children for Easter presents. Many parents and friends thoughtlessly give their children helpless living creatures, easily hurt, live treated, mutilated, fortunate if they happen to be promptly killed by children that know no better.

At Easter the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals receives innumerable calls to care for broken legs, ribs, injured heads and bodies of chickens and other small animals. Such gifts, breeding cruelty, have a bad influence on children, should be forbidden by law and by the common sense of parents.

SOME ONE SAYS "be careful how you stroke a pet cat, near gasoline. Stroking pet cats, develops electric sparks that may set fire to the gasoline."

Does Dr. Diltmars, of the big zoo of New York, know anything about that? Is there enough real fire, in the spark from a cat's back, to be dangerous?

The learned Diltmars says it is not true that the viper serpent, which bears its young alive, opens its mouth and swallows them temporarily, for their protection in time of danger. Dozens of reputable readers write to say they have seen the thing happen.

Has any reader seen a cat's spark set fire to gasoline? (Copyright, 1936, by King Feature Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

Johnstown's Flood Loss Is $28,821,692

Unable To Estimate As Yet Loss To Industries And Railroads

Only Loss Estimatable At
This Time Is Homes, Buildings

(International News Service)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Mar. 24.—A nation-wide appeal for funds to rehabilitate flood-ravaged Johnstown was issued Monday by a committee of business and civic leaders as the full extent of the flood damage was revealed by a survey made by builders and architects.

The rehabilitation committee, under chairmanship of Mayor Daniel J. Shields, named the United States National Bank its depository and asked that funds be sent to the institution. Subcommittees were immediately formed in all neighboring counties where the damage was virtually as great as it was in Johnstown which was struck by a torrent rivaling the great flood of 1889 which took 2,300 lives.

The total loss aside from that to industrial plants and railroads was fixed at $28,821,692 by the committee of architects and builders which met with City Assessor M. H.
Chudy. Of this amount, $6,170,400 represented loss and damage to residences and smaller business places and $22,651,292 to their contents.

2,203 Homes Damaged

A total of 2,203 residences were damaged or destroyed at a loss of $2,955,530. The committee reported and a total of 2,305 non-residential buildings, including small stores, were damaged or swept away with a loss of $3,214,430.

A total of 32 homes were completely destroyed at a loss of $108,- 200, the survey revealed, and a total of 45 non-residential buildings at a loss of $174,430.

The rehabilitation committee announced it will make its appeal independent of the Red Cross and federal agencies in order to obtain funds to re-establish or small business men will be completely out if unable to obtain money and credit.

lector. Tenement children in Mott Street are learning the history of Chinatown at the expense of the Government. I know a man who collects different types of pin-marble games and leased an extra room to show off his aggregation.
Autograph collectors have become such pests in theater lobbies and at stage doors that Katherine Cornell and Alfred Lunt are thinking of donning football headgear to charge through the mobs. A correspondent wrote saying he was about to move to New York and has his hobby already; he collected old marriage licenses. The tenant in a small apartment in Brooklyn has 187 canary birds and wouldn't sell one for a month's rent.

New York, boondoggle capital of the world.

When I mentioned collaborating pairs here not long ago I omitted a celebrated twosome: Samuel and Bela Spewack, the young married couple who authored "Boy Meets Girl," a resounding success in the showshops.

The Spewacks have been writing and rewriting for the movies for a number of years. Before that Bela was a short-story writer and Samuel wanted to be a musician. They occupy a small suite in one of the quieter, smaller hotels and have no set program for attacking a plot.
Both write and rewrite and fume and criticize until suddenly the opus is all done and ready for celluloid or footlights.

At the moment their new play is stymied. Mrs. Spewack, you see, has whooping-cough!

Edenburg News

SILVER COFFEE SUCCESS
The Silver Coffee held in the Christian church Friday evening was a decided success. In spite of the inclement weather, a large crowd was present and a nice sum of money was received, which will be turned over to the treasurer for the basement fund. The ladies served the coffee and Bessie Mc-Bride and members of the Young People's Christian Union furnished the program.

EDENBURG SENDS DONATIONS

and subscribed money for flood sufferers.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS TO SUIT YOUR PURSE!

...when you buy a General Motors Car!

Want a new car this Spring? Here is the convenient and economical way to buy it on instalments.

Select the new General Motors car that fits your purse and purpose—make the usual down payment —then arrange your monthly payments of the balance on the General Motors Instalment Plan.

This Plan enables dealers in General Motors cars to arrange the monthly payments best suited to your circumstances and the car you buy—whether the payments are $15, $20, $25, or any other amount per month.

And this is important! Pay as much per month as you can comfortably afford, and acquire ownership of your car in as short a period as possible—for that is the cheapest way to buy any car on instalments.

This plan makes it easy for you to figure and see for yourself, in advance, exactly what the relative costs of various payment terms are. Compare it with any other plan on a dollars and cents basis—and be sure to include as complete insurance protection.

Under the General Motors Instalment Plan you receive a policy in General Exchange Insurance Corporation, protecting your new car against Fire, Theft, and Accidental Damage—including Collision.

Ask your dealer to show you how conveniently the General Motors Instalment Plan can be made to fit your requirements and your pocketbook.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SCHOOL GIRL DEBATES

Recently I was an auditor of the annual two-day parents' forum put on by the Health and Parent Education association of Cleveland. The two main speakers were Dr. Paul Furly of the Catholic University of America, and Prof. Elbert Fretwell of Teachers college, Columbia university.

At one session there was a panel discussion by a dozen representative high school youth, with Professor Fretwell leading them. And how well they did talk! Let me relay one dialogue, in part, between Professor Fretwell and Adele Rose, a student from Glenville High School, Cleveland.

Dr. Fretwell: "What do you believe are the good effects of student government through student council organizations?"

Miss Rose: "Student government promotes a feeling of independence and self-reliance and gives students a sense of responsibility."

Dr. Fretwell: "What type of adviser is most successful in school projects?"

Miss Rose: "The adviser who takes no part in the actual planning of programs until they are submitted to him for approval, encourages student initiative. He should try to let the group carry out all projects unless they are impossible, rash, and should transmit faculty opinions to his club."

Must Be Dependable

Dr. Fretwell: "What sort of student fits into the work of student government?"

Miss Rose: "Only students who have not been completely 'babied' at home; students who have had some share of responsibility and can be trusted to carry a project out. The chief character factor needed in student government is dependability and this is something that must to some degree, be fostered in the home before it can be tested at school."

From Brooklyn, N. Y. came the following letter:

"Dear Dr. Myers: Some time ago
I read your column on teachers. Now I would like to tell you about a teacher in the school which I attend.
Her name is Mrs. Fallon and she is a Health Education teacher in Manual Training High school. Of all the teachers I have had in my nine years of schooling, she's the 'tops'.
She combines good teaching and sincerity with understanding. I do not know of any pupils who dislike her except those who never get along with anyone. She is as patient as a kitten. I certainly would like to meet any teacher who can top Mrs. Fallon."

"P. S.: Please do not use my name but I would like you to print the name of the school and the teacher.
Just sign my name '15.'"

TO ATTEND MEETING

President Ray Cutler of the Lehigh Cement Employees Association today announced that all members of the association are expected to attend the meeting in the Benjamin Franklin Junior High school tonight at 8 o'clock.

Piles? Read This Letter

"I suffered 14 years from bleeding and protruding piles—tried everything. Never slept more than 3 hours a night in last 4 weeks. Could hardly lie down or sit on pillows with the itching and smarting. With the first application of Peterson's Ointment I slept 12 hours. Tell all sufferers it's marvelous. Still using the first 35c box." P. B. Miller, 1915 E. Atlantic

Authorities do not agree as to
why holes are found in cactus wood;
however, a scientist gives the following explanation which is generally accepted: Cactus cannot afford to have solid wood because there is not enough fertility and rainwater
in the soil to provide for it. Therefore, it is an economy of nature.

Authorities do not agree as to
why holes are found in cactus wood;
however, a scientist gives the following explanation which is generally accepted: Cactus cannot afford
to have solid wood because there is not enough fertility and rainwater
in the soil to provide for it. Therefore, it is an economy of nature.

MILLION SPECTATORS SEE GIANT LINER START

Queen Mary On Hazardous Trip

Leaves Clydebank Enroute Through Clyde River To Southampton

ENGLAND'S BID FOR SUPREMACY

BULLETIN
(International News Service)
GLASGOW, Mar. 24—Amid the cheers of a million spectators and the screeching of a thousand factory and ship whistles, the giant liner Queen Mary, her new paint glistening in the brilliant sunshine, started today on the first and most hazardous voyage of her career.

Maneuvered by seven puffing tugs, Britain's competitor for trans-Atlantic supremacy was nosed out of the fitting basin at Clydebank into Midstream, to start the perilous trip

I was ashamed to go to the Doctor!

Little did I realize that most women who have children, suffer from piles (hemorrhoids). My pain became so acute that I was frantic. I couldn't walk, I couldn't sleep, I couldn't sit down. Finally I went to my doctor. He told me that I had hemorrhoids, and recommended a suppository to be used in the privacy of my own home.

If you suffer as I did, let me recommend that you get a $1.00 box of IRIL suppositories containing 12 treatments. This wonderful prescription stops the agony and torture within a few seconds. Containing no narcotics or harmful drugs, they are safe and easy to use, and best of all, can be depended upon to give you complete relief from all pain and discomfort. All druggists.

Library Gets Book By Dr. H. A. Rhodes

The Rev. Harry A. Rhodes, A. M., D. D., a native of Western Pennsylvania, and for 27 years a missionary in Korea, is the author of a book published last year and recently acquired by the Free Public Library. It is called a "History of the Korea Mission, Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. 1884-1934", and was published in Seoul, Korea, or Chosen, as it is called since the Japanese occupation. The book is written with great care, the history is recounted in detail, and there are maps and bibliography.

Dr. Rhodes is a native of Lawrence county, having been born on his grandfather's farm near East Brook. He is a graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers College, Grove City College, and Princeton Theological Seminary. He is a brother of Mr. Oscar Rhodes of Hillcrest avenue.

It is expected that Dr. Rhodes' book will be in great demand.

Relief Director Gives Notice To W.P.A. Dismissals

Direct relief for men dismissed from the WPA forces cannot be put into force for about 21 days after the dismissal, James W. Moorhead, executive director of the Emergency Relief, announced today. The announcement which is self explanatory, follows:

"If such families are in need of relief it will be necessary for them to re-apply immediately at their nearest state relief office. The State Emergency Relief Board will be able to accept such applications as soon as notification of dismissal has been received from WPA. It will, in every case, be necessary to re-investigate the present situation and need of the family or individual in order to determine their eligibility for relief."

"It is understood that men will have a pay due them which will be received after they have finished on the job. Because of this fact and because the State Emergency Relief Board gave relief for 21 days after men started to work, relief cannot be resumed until 21 days from the date of separation from the project."

AROUND CITY HALL

When council adopted an ordinance increasing the bond indebtedness of the city $100,000, they placed the bond debt at a figure that cannot be surpassed only by a vote of the people. The city can bond itself to two per cent of the assessed valuation ($50,000,000), a mark now reached. The bonds will be used to fund indebtedness of the city existing because the council issued indebtedness certificates to contractors for improvements. The bonds will pay three per cent. The indebtedness certificates paid six per cent. The latter has been overdue, hence council's attempt to save on interest.

A citizen has called attention to the abbreviated tree on the south side of Public Square. It is about 12 feet high. The citizen believes the city should place a sign on the tree so that motorists passing through the city would have no difficulty finding the proper route. There is a sign on the east side of the Public Square, the citizen pointed out. Were a route board illuminated, the citizen added, this would be of great assistance to motorists who may become "lost" at night.

Lewis Denies Ballot Charges

Former Alderman Testifies In Own Defense At Trial Monday

MANY WITNESSES TELLS OF CHARACTER

Former Alderman Richard R. Lewis of the fifth ward took the stand in his own defense Monday afternoon in Lawrence county court and denied any guilt or knowledge of guilt in the first precinct in the November, 1935 election.

His examination by counsel started with two questions: "Did you tamper with the ballots" and "did you keep the ballot box in a safe place?"

To the first question he returned a vigorous "No," and to the second an equally vigorous "Yes."

While he was asked questions from time to time, his testimony was more in the form of a narration of events. He said that he had been a candidate on the Republican ticket for the nomination as alderman in the fifth ward, and that his wife had been a candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Had Six Watchers

He had six watchers at the polls. Thomas White and Frank Macchia on the independent ticket; Guy Collole and Ralph Largo on the socialist ticket, and John Bertolino and Ralph Lombardo on the prohibition ticket. The latter two nominations Lewis received by write-ins on the primary ballot.

He said that his watchers had first reported 235 votes for him on the election night, but that one watcher, Frank Macchia, had reported 310. The board returned him 200. Urged by his watchers, Lewis said, a petition to open the ballot box was presented. When the deflections were found he later put in a petition asking that the election be declared in his favor. Through technicalities this petition was voided.

Lewis said that he kept the ballot box in his private office, along with the boxes of the other two precincts, that they had been safe there, and that at no time did he tamper with them or did he know of anybody tampering with them.

Sick in Bed

On November 17 he went to bed with an infected knee, he said, and was in bed for a number of days. In proof of this he called Dr. Paris A. Shoff, who attended him.

As character witnesses Lewis called Ivor V. Davis, D. O. Davies, L. G. Genkinger, George L. Smith, Glynn Morgan, Mrs. Ella Barber, H. R. Huston, Carl Leathers, Maurice Markley, Arthur Rees, Clark G. Snyder, W. L. Burford, R. L. Homer, John Wilkins, Joseph Green, Roy Scheidmantle, David M. Ritchey and Everett Anderson.

The test question was: "Do you know of Mr. Lewis' reputation for honesty and as a law-abiding citizen?" All of them testified that his reputation was good, but the testimony of some of them was not allowed because their opinion was a personal one and not made up by what they heard from others.

Miss Viola Sankey, stenographer for Lewis for five years, was called and testified as to the location of the rooms and the place where the ballot box was kept.

No wonder people admire the dog. He doesn't snap those who feed him and grovel to please those who kick him.

Cripple Pays Death Penalty

George W. Barrett Is Hanged
For Murder Of G-Man
At Indianapolis

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, Mar. 24.—Clad in a pair of borrowed white pajamas—he had insisted on saving his Sunday suit to be buried in—George W. Barrett, 55-year-old cripple, was hanged at 12:02 a. m. here today.

The springing of the trap gave the Kentucky mountain feudist the dubious distinction of being the first man to die under the new federal law providing the death penalty for the murder of a government agent. Barrett was convicted of killing Nelson Klein, a department of justice operative, in a gun battle at West College Corner, Ind., last Aug. 16.

Barrett seemed to be in a stupor as he was carried to the scaffold by two deputies. He stood quietly, his eyes glazed, as Phil Hanna, nuzzled the noose about his neck, adjusted the black hood. Barrett made no response when asked if he desired to say a last word.

Storm Log Of Phone Company Pictures Flood Accurately

Reports To Headquarters In Philadelphia Gives Moving Picture Of Events

Perhaps no clearer picture of the rise and fall of the great flood which swept Pennsylvania last week has been painted than the one shown by the storm log of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, contained in reports received almost hourly at the headquarters of the company in Philadelphia.

Reports of storm conditions swept in from Erie, Warren, and McKean county on Monday, March 16, telling of the damage done by sleet. On Tuesday, March 17, reports began coming in of the water rising at Johnstown. At 2 p. m., the water was reported over the river banks, rolling through the streets. At 9 p. m., that evening, all lights were out. Telephone service was being run on storage batteries. Operators wouldn't leave if they could, they tell Manager George Fulmer, who is marooned with them. It was freezing cold in the room, the roar of the water almost drowned out the voices over the phone.

On Wednesday, Pittsburgh reported the greatest flood in its history. Of the two main long distance telephone cables out of Pittsburgh, one is still intact, but the other due to a break at crossing over Juniata river, east of Bedford.

At Williamsport, the water is at the 27-foot stage, and within five feet of the switch board, but the operators are carrying on in great style.

At Harrisburg, 7 a. m., all highways blocked to the west. Railroads crippled. Courage and spirit of operators wonderful.

And so the picture moves on back and forth across the state, telling of the worst situation which has ever confronted the telephone company. The operators stuck to their jobs until they were absolutely forced to leave. They were not panicky. Many were marooned in the telephone company buildings for several days. In some places, messengers were provided by the company for handling emergency messages to subscribers whose equipment was out.

Sewickley, of Youngstown, a sister, Mrs. Eva Sherry, of New Castle, a brother, A. L. Wimer, of Poland, O., and a number of nieces and nephews in New Castle.

The body has been removed to the Higgin funeral home on Wick avenue, Youngstown where it will remain until 1 p. m. Wednesday when it will be taken to the First U. P. church in Lowellville, O., for funeral services at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot at Lowellville.

Former Local Men Suffer Flood Loss

Francis Brothers Garage At Harrisburg Badly Flooded
By Susquehanna

Word was received by William A. Francis of Winter avenue that the sales garage of his two brothers, Thomas and Glyn Francis, of Harrisburg, has been inundated by flood waters of the Susquehanna, but the two former local men are digging out.

The sales garage is located on South Cameron street, thought to be safe from flood waters. The water came into their building and was nine inches deep from a balcony which is eight feet from the floor. Shortly after the water filled the first floor an explosion took place nearby and blew every window of the building out.

Fortunately they were able to get all their new cars onto the second floor before the water hit, but their parts department was entirely submerged.

Clergy Disapproves Of Sunday Funerals

Ministers To Ask That Only Funerals Of Necessity Be Held Sundays

After voicing their disapproval of Sunday funerals a committee consisting of Dr. C. K. McGeorge, Dr. J. A. Galbraith and Rev. R. B. Withers was appointed by the members of the New Castle Ministerial association to confer with the morticians and cemetery association upon this matter. The committee will ask that only funerals of necessity be conducted on Sundays.

This was one of a number of subjects brought before the ministers at the regular meeting in the First Presbyterian church Monday, over which Rev. Rees T. Williams, the president, presided.

A motion was passed commending the American Red Cross for its work in the flood disaster and that the association support it in its effort to ameliorate suffering in the flood areas.

Rev. T. A. Ponds requested the assistance of the members of the association in meetings to be held in April. Rev. B. J. Watkins announced noon-day prayer meetings at the City Mission.

Dr. C. B. Winger, chairman of the program committee, presented the speaker of the morning, Hon. W.

Walter Braham, judge in Lawrence county courts.

Judge Braham chose as his subject, "The Constitution—a Means Not an End." In part he said, "The people are talking about the constitution and that is a good sign. 'The constitution is a frame or plan by which we govern ourselves.'"

"The fundamental power back of the constitution is the heart, mind and conscience of the people." "The constitution has come through trying times and worked wonderfully well." A discussion followed the address.

Rev. M. M. Mook, of New Wilmington, closed the meeting with prayer.

NEW CASTLE-SHARON WILL PLAY TONIGHT

Western Regional Game Scheduled At Beaver Falls Floor

Light And Power Restored To Beaver Valley And Game Will Be Played

New Castle In Fine Shape, Game Will Start At 8 P. M., Expect Big Crowd

The much publicized and postponed New Castle-Sharon high school basketball game at the Beaver Falls, Pa., high school gym floor will be played tonight. The starting time of the game is 8 p. m. The winner of the game tonight will advance to the finals in the Western Regional championship of the P. I. A. A. to meet Franklin Borough High conquerors of Boswell High.

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" basketball team will motor out of New Castle about 6 o'clock tonight bound for the Beaver valley. In the New Castle party will be Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Assistant Coaches Klee and Thomas, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, Student Manager Dick Greger, Edie Covelli, George Adams, Domenic Strausbaugh, Vic Nocera, Dal Mumford, Emil Grommes, Alex Dukin, Paul Small, "Horse" Ryglinski, and Johnnie Carik.

Fine Record
New Castle fought its way to the spot it occupies tonight by defeating such teams as Beaver Falls, Butler, Latrobe, Rankin, Crafton, Findley, and St. Marys, quite an enviable record to be sure. It took lots of fight and courage to win these games in the face of almost overwhelming odds.

Sharon High under Coach "Pop" Dickerson won the right to meet New Castle by upsetting Farrell High and then going ahead to defeat Erie Strong Vincent and Oil City. Sharon will give New Castle High its toughest battle of the tournament to date. Nothing would please Sharon more than to be able to stop New Castle.

Watch Butchko
New Castle will have to watch Butchko and Diven tonight. Against Erie these two boys played in 27 of the 42 points. Price is another boy who will bear watching. Sharon has a veteran team and one that is figured capable of stopping the mad rush of the Phil Bridenbaugh team toward state championship honors. The New Castle boys have been working out daily at Washington High. Coach Bridenbaugh feels positive that his boys will play their usual brand of scrappy basketball tonight. Just who will start the game is not known.

Probable Lineups
This much is certain. The game at Beaver Falls High gym tonight will no doubt be the classic of the entire season. Both teams are good. Both teams are well coached. Both teams want the victory.

Following are the probable lineups:
New Castle: Carik, F.; Mumford, F.; Nocera, F.; Strausbaugh, C.; Grommes, G.; Covelli, G.; Adams, G.
Sharon: Price, F.; Butchko, F.; Ferrick, F.; Diven, F.; Baldwin, F.

Fans Protest Prices Set-Up For Floor Game

New Castle High School Did Not Have Anything To Do With Setting Prices

Protests loud and long have been heard the length and breadth of New Castle over the exorbitant prices for the New Castle-Sharon high basketball game tonight. Unjust criticism has been heaped the New Castle High School officials for the 50, 75 and $1.00 prices for the game tonight.

New Castle High School did not have anything to do with the prices for the game.

The prices for the games were set several months ago by the State Board of Athletic Control composed of chairman of the 12 district in the state. The Western regional gets two tickets, and they were cast against the high prices, but to no avail.

Locals Do Not Share
The crowd tonight at the Beaver Falls High gym will no doubt bear out that the prices are too high out there that the prices are too high.

Here is another thing that the fans should know—New Castle High school does not share in the gate receipts whatsoever. The local school gets expenses for 13 of the players and coaches only. Not one cent of what is taken in at the gate comes to New Castle or goes to Sharon.

How To Get There
Here are the prices again if you still care to know—students 50 cents if you buy them at New Castle or $1.00 at the gate in Beaver Falls. Adults 75 cents if bought in New Castle of $1.00 at the gate in Beaver Falls.

The roads to Beaver Falls were reported in fine shape by Faculty Manager Gardner and the New Castle Motor Association today. There are two routes to go either through Ellwood City or through Wampum.

Upon reaching Beaver Falls instead of making a left hand turn at the Cork works, keep straight ahead and follow the street car tracks. You will not miss the school, its on the right side of the street going out.

Sacred Hearts Are Church AA Champs

Defeat Epworth M. E. At "Y" Monday Night To Annex League Championship

Gallagher, Viggiano And Gennock Share Scoring Honors In Battle, 32-19

Sacred Hearts basketball team won the New Castle Church AA highest honors, the 1936 championship, last night at the Y. M. C. A. floor by trouncing the Epworth M. E. boys. The Sacred Hearts won the first half and the second half titles.

The champions are coached by Andy "Coots" Venditto.

There was little question as to the outcome of the game after the first few minutes of play. The Sacred Hearts had an "on" night and piled up field goal after field goal.

The score at the half favored the enditmons, 20 to 11. Frank Viggiano, Louis Gennock and Vinnie Gallagher were the young lads who brought the coveted honors to the South Jefferson street boys. This trio combined to score 22 of the points made by the Hearts.

Big Joe Kelly played a fine game at center for the champions and was forced out on personal fouls. Kearns, Sammie Bullano, Frank Merando and Zingaro also helped the Hearts win the championship.

Venditto Gets Praise
H. Wyman and Waino led the attack for the Epworthians in the fight against the Hearts, and managed to tally 11 points between them, but this was not enough to deny the Hearts the victory.

Much of the success of the Sacred Hearts goes to Coach Andy "Coots" Venditto, who handled the team this year in first-class manner and proved one of the best coaches in the Church AA league. He is very popular with his men and an excellent leader. Venditto was forced to sit by and watch the St. Michaels take the title last year in a hard-fought game, but this year through sheer hard work and courage the Sacred Hearts came through with the most coveted of floor titles in New Castle.

Rocco P. Viggiano has acted as manager and business manager for the Sacred Hearts this year and deserves a lot of credit for his work. The Sacred Hearts have only been in athletic competition a short while in New Castle, but have ascended the heights of basketball fame. Outside of the Church League the Sacred Hearts are known as the Keystone A. C. The combined Hearts and Keystone have compiled a great record this year against some of the fastest teams in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio.

Phillies Take Fifth Victory
(International News Service)

The performance of Hal Killeher and Joe Bowman in permitting the Milwaukee Brewers only four weak hits while winning 8 to 1 increased Wilson's optimism that his team will win the National League pennant.

First M. E. Team Wins Second-Half Title In Church A League

MEET ST. PAULS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

First Methodist church basketball team topped the Tifereth Israel team last night at the Y. M. C. A. floor 35 to 7, in a lopsided battle for the second half championship of the Church A basketball league. The First M. E. boys earned the right to battle the St. Pauls Lutherans on Wednesday night for the Church A league championship.

The Tifereth Israelis did not put up much of a fight last night, making only two field goals and three fouls. On the other hand the Methodists, led by Cloak, former Ellwood City star, who made 17 of the points, managed to get 13 field goals and nine fouls. Smith and Lockley did a lot of scoring also for the Methodists.

The game was practically over at the end of the first half when it was found that the score was 15 to 3 in favor of the Methodists.

Play St. Pauls
The First M. E. and St. Pauls game tomorrow night should be a humdinger. The lineups of both teams are dotted with stars. The First M. E. team is well balanced.

Indications point to a big crowd at the "Y" tomorrow night for the championship battle.

Herb McIlvenny has been named chairman of the Seventh Ward committee. The Consistory and it was also decided to take care of 100 women and children at the Lawrence school, according to C. Ed. Brown, chairman for Mayor McGrath's flood activities committee.

It is unlikely that any of the refugees of the flood will be sent here, those in authority have stated, as most of the communities have made provisions to take care of the people made homeless in their own locality.

FEDERAL FUNDS WILL AID FLOOD
RELIEF IN STATE

and report to WPA administrator Harry Hopkins, the rehabilitation and cleanup work will begin immediately.

Washington, Mar. 24.—The fate of Pennsylvania's flood relief program hung in the balance today as the Keystone State's governor and his aides again stormed federal relief agencies seeking funds.

One conference between Governor George H. Earle and Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins has made certain that the government will come through with relief funds. Another, today, was to determine the amount which the government can supply.

Earle, his Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, and other state officials, continued to withhold the total amount which they have asked Hopkins to put up. Termining the floods which swept Pennsylvania the greatest disaster the state has ever experienced, they sought money for immediate relief, a minimum of $10,000,000 for this purpose, and money, too, with which to carry the normal Pennsylvania relief burden.

The floods, Earle and his aides pointed out, have swept away resources with which the state intended to continue to carry the normal relief load until the middle of May. Now, these funds must be provided immediately, or thousands will suffer.

The problem was so big, the situation so grave, said Governor Earle, "that the initial conference with Mr. Hopkins failed to bring information of a complete program. We have made progress, but our work is far from completed here."

Big Run Near
To Flood Stage

Residents of the South Side, particularly those residing in the vicinity of Scioto, West Big Run and Moravia streets, are hoping that Big Run creek, which has been rising continuously since late Monday, commences to recede.

This morning about 11 o'clock, the creek barely overflowed its banks at West Big Run street and Scioto St. At the Moravia St. bridge, where ice recently gorged causing a flood in the vicinity of Moravia, Scioto and West Long Ave. the water is about a foot away from the top of the gap. City employees were building a dirt dike to keep the water in the streams.

Abe Shapiro, whose property is adjacent the bridge, dared the maddening rush of water with an ice scraper which he was using to clean water brushes, which have been holding back the water to some extent. At the bottom of the creek, he uncovered close to 27 chickens and ducks which were drowned during the recent gorge.

Workers Groups
Have ConferenceProtest On Making Up Lost Time Is Presented To DownieOTHER MATTERS
ARE DISCUSSED

Following a conference with representatives of various workers' groups today in the WPA office, Director J. Vale Downie reiterated the order of the state WPA that time lost on projects due to weather must be made up at the rate of two hours per day on days worked.

The group included Doyle E. Glosner, Harry Hanlon, Sandy Delaverson, Norman Freeborne, Lawrence Kahner and Edward Gardner. For the WPA there were present J. Vale Downie, T. L. Peters, Francis Butler and Joseph Devine. The workers represented appeared for the Central Labor Council, Workers Progressive association, National Security Association, Co-Operative Workers of America and the Pennsylvania Security League.

Present Grievances

Several grievances were presented. Among them were the making up of lost time, the reduction by 15 per cent of the WPA forces, alleged discrimination shown against men classed as radicals, and the manner of marking the reason for dismissal on the WPA records.

In the matter of making the records it was explained that all men dismissed under the 15 per cent order are marked merely as being dismissed for "district work reduction."

It was agreed by Mr. Downie that the committee could have access to any man's dismissal record where there was any question. As to the dismissal of men classed as radicals, Mr. Downie said that this was not taken into consideration.

The one thing upon which Downie remained firm was the necessity of making up lost time. "This has been a severe winter and we have lost time on projects," said he. "From now on we must get the work done as far as possible, and we have orders that where a man loses a day in the week because of weather that it must be made up at the rate of two hours per day. Where any man refuses to make up lost time he will not be paid for the time lost."

Mr. Glosner protested that this was putting the government into the position of forcing men to work eight hours per day when it asked private industry to work men six hours per day.

The committee left after approximately an hour's conference. Their findings today will be reported to the mass meeting in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school tonight.

Flood Scenes Are Described By Jack Bryan

Tells Of Conditions Encountered By Troop On Arriving At Sharpsburg

SNOW STORM ADDS TO MISERY HERE

By CORPORAL JACK B. BRYAN
(Special To The News)
SHARPSBURG, Pa., Mar. 24.—Troop F, 103rd Cavalry arrived in Sharpsburg at 11:30 on the morning of the 19th. Conditions due to the flood were very bad. Stores blocks away from the normal water front were flooded with water eight feet deep. At the time Troop F arrived the people who were uninjured but driven from their homes, were walking the streets in a daze. Rumors of varying degrees of terror were rampant. At this time almost the entire business section of Sharpsburg was under water to a depth of five to seven feet, but was falling rapidly. These fears were allayed by members to Troop F.

The citizens took their staggering losses with a fortitude almost unbelievable. Members of Troop F were greeted enthusiastically by both civil authorities and citizens. Capt. Mitchell, who preceded the troop into town had already selected a large brick school building surrounded by a high iron fence for the command post and for the quartering and feeding of the troopers. This building has proved to be ideal, and with the exception of a great lack of usable water, and no electric or telephone service, conditions have not been unduly unpleasant. For the first two days, however, no heat was available and there have been few blankets and cots as most of these were turned over to the relief authorities for care of the sick and injured. The health and morale of the troopers is excellent. No injuries and no men off duty.

Quietly and efficiently the troopers moved in, quickly setting up a field range in front of the building and in a short time dinner was steaming, the equipment unloaded and guards were installed at points indicating a need for protection from looting and disorder. These patrols have been maintained continuously night and day with the strictest discipline being enforced at night in regard to citizens being off the streets by 8 o'clock and no sight-seers and morbidly curious being allowed entrance to the city. Through traffic has been rerouted around the city. This materially aids in keeping the streets free for WPA workers and trucks hauling food and clothing necessities, as well as keeping out undesirable persons who may use such an opportunity to enter the city for the purpose of looting.

Several arrests have been made by troopers but not on serious charges. Homes and business places are entirely protected and no disorder or theft has taken place. Cooperation of the finest has been extended. Capt. Mitchell and Troop F on all sides, Capt. Mitchell being without doubt the most widely known man in the city at present. A pass system for use of residents of Sharpsburg is in use and for several days Capt. Mitchell's signature was at a premium, having been made active chief of police by the city council.

LT. Seyfert reported for duty early in the afternoon of the 19th having received the telegram sent him at the time of mobilization almost 15 hours late.

In the lower section of the flooded area, the mud for the first two days was a great handicap. At the present time a 6-inch fall of snow which was preceded by a heavy rain has added to the unpleasantness of this area. WPA workers are still employed clearing the streets of snow, mud and debris.

Pvt. Edward Suszynski was commended by the Red Cross unit here for having performed a rescue of a woman suffering from exposure and shock in the flooded area.

Orders were received from provisional brigade headquarters, Bayard and Thackeray streets, Pittsburgh, that the order initially stating a tour of duty of three days was countermanded and that Troop F would stand fast until relieved by further orders. Rations to be secured for a longer stay immediately. Battery B, 176 Field Artillery, was to lend assistance at this point pending the arrival of Troop F from New Castle, however the New Castle unit was on the scene three hours before the Pittsburgh detachment arrived. Seeing that Troop F had the situation under control they returned to Pittsburgh, where they were on duty. It is highly probable that a detachment of at least 30 men will be sent to aid Troop F's patrols within a few hours due to the very bad weather conditions and intensive patrolling done by the New Castle men in the last three days.

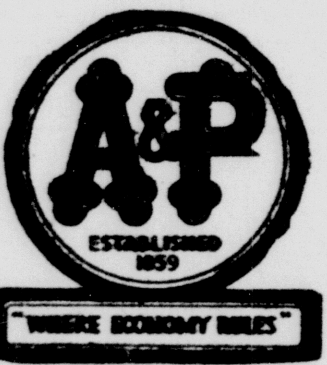

The quarters for the men in the school building today are dry and warm, a hospital and medical center is located on the second floor of the building and ample rations are being secured for four days. The New Castle troopers have fully learned the destructive powers of flood water and are rendering valuable aid to the state. Mail service is completed and letters may be sent to the members of Troop F at the following address: Troop F, 103rd Cavalry, High School, Sharpsburg, Penna.

KIDNEY TROUBLE ALARMED THIS MAN

Says Results With World's Tonic Were Most Astonishing

"My back hurt me so from kidney trouble that I was afraid to move when I woke up in the morning, and often I would awake at night with an ache that made me feel that every muscle in the small of my back was set in a cramp," said S. E. Beaver, of New Castle, Pa., in a letter to the World's Tonic man. "To add to my grief I was badly constipated, and soon the inactivity of my kidneys and the constipation affected my heart and stomach. I could hardly breathe after eating, and I suffered the agony of indigestion when I went to bed and the pain in my back when I was awake. Both got so bad that I was greatly alarmed. I took treatment for my kidneys and used strong cathartics to relieve the constipation. These were sometimes of temporary benefit, but as soon as I stopped their use the pains came back. Things went on this way for weeks, until I doubted if I ever would be well again."

"One nasty, rainy night I was just about to go to the drug store for a dose of physic when one of my neighbors handed me a part of a bottle of World's Tonic, in order to save me from going out. I took three doses and my bowels moved more normally than they had in months. So I began to take it regularly for the constipation. To my great surprise and satisfaction, it did as much for my kidneys as it did for my bowels. Inside of two weeks I had no pain and my bowels moved regularly twice a day. The results were most astonishing. I did not suffer from my kidneys and I felt better in every way. I could not treat the effects would be permanent, but it is now several months since I have suffered. I have an occasional dose as I feel the need of it. I am as well as any man has a right to be."

"I do not hesitate to recommend World's Tonic for the general toning up of kidneys and bowels, and firmly believe it is the best possible aid to anyone who suffers as I did." World's Tonic is sold by Eckerds', Paisley's, and all other first class drug stores. (A-35)

State Leads Nation In Payroll Gains During Month

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 24.—Pennsylvania led the nation in gains of industrial payrolls last month according to a survey released by Secretary of Labor, Perkins.

The study included 8,176 industrial establishments in the Keystone state. In these plants, employment increased one-half of one per cent and payrolls jumped 7.9 per cent in February over January. While 10 states had greater percentage gains in employment, none had as great an increase in payrolls as Pennsylvania.

West Virginia ranked second of the 48 states in payroll expansion, with an increase of 7.4 per cent. Ohio came far down the list with a gain of only one-tenth of one per cent.
